A WARM WELCOME

Inspiring Leaders Leadership Conference 2022

Welcome to the event.

We are delighted to welcome you to the Inspiring Leaders residential Leadership Conference 2022.

We are really looking forward welcoming you to our 2022 conference focussing on 'Excellence in Leadership'. We have a wide range of keynote speakers and workshop leaders from within and beyond the education sector who will joining us over the coming two days to share their experience, expertise, and examples of leadership. As always, we work hard to create inputs which challenge your thinking, introduce different perspectives, and give you a chance to be inspired.

As school and MAT Leaders, you are working in extremely turbulent times and it is important that you have the opportunity to get away from your settings to reflect, refresh and learn from and with leaders from the Inspiring Leaders community. At this year's event we have created a wider range of options for delegates to access which include access to a cinema room, a tour of the FA Football centre, a running club and as always full access to the hotel's recreation facilities. We hope you can take advantage of these facilities during the event and take a little bit of time for yourselves over the two days.

We would like to thank all our sponsors for their support in organising this conference. It is important school and MAT leaders recognise the expertise that wider education suppliers provide to help schools and MATs be more efficient and effective. We encourage all delegates to take time to visit our event sponsors over the two days and see how this range of partners can help you in your setting, beyond the event. Special thanks go to Propelo, our premier sponsor for continuing to be a close partner of Inspiring Leaders, we are very grateful for this continued partnership.

In this brochure you will find all the information about the conference but please feel free to ask our team if you have any questions.

We hope you enjoy a wonderful conference and thank you again for attending.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Inspiring Leaders Leadership Conference 2022

Lord (Chris) Holmes OF RICHMOND MBE

Keynote Title: Leadership lessons on inclusion, innovation, talent and technology.

Biography

Chris is a passionate advocate for the potential of technology and the benefits of diversity and inclusion. He has previously co-authored House of Lords Select Committee Reports on: Democracy and Digital Technologies, Intergenerational Fairness, Artificial Intelligence, Financial Exclusion, Social Mobility and Digital Skills. An ex-Paralympic swimmer, Chris won nine gold, five silvers and one bronze medal across four Games, including a record haul of six golds at Barcelona 1992.

“

When I lost my sight aged 14, it was my teacher and teammates, friends and family that got me through. The attitudes of those around me became everything and I was lucky enough to benefit from what I - didn't then - but do now describe as inclusive leadership” says Chris. In his powerful keynote Chris explains how those early experiences shaped his own approach to leadership. Why he believes true inclusion unlocks talent and leads to innovation. Why he remains passionate about the potential of emerging technologies and why leaders succeed when they are constantly learning. Chris will talk about how he applied these lessons and more as Captain of the GB Paralympic swim team for 5 years, Director at London 2012, active member of the House of Lords and Deputy Chair at Channel 4.

EDEN PROJECT CEO Rob Chatwin

Keynote Title: The Eden Story & expansion - Influence on curriculum. Sustainability is dull - but what can be done?

Biography

Rob is Group Chief Executive Office of Eden Project International (EPIL). Rob joined Eden in January 2022, after previously working as an Executive Vice President and a member of the Group Operating Board at Natura & Co. Rob was also the Chief Transformation Officer at Avon and at the Body Shop as part of the integration programme into the Natura Group. Rob is a Brazilian national, a UK Chartered Accountant and has an MBA from IMD in Lausanne, Switzerland.

“

In the late 1990s a small group gathered to talk about an idea – to create a place like nothing anyone had ever seen before; a place that explored our place in nature, a place that demonstrated what could be done if people who wanted to make a difference got together. We bought an exhausted, steep-sided clay pit 60 metres deep, with no soil, 15 metres below the water table, and essentially gave it life. This is where the Eden Project began. Since then we have created a home for thousands of plant species, hosted G7 climate summit, created a diverse range of environmental project and taken steps to grow our work across the world!

EMERITUS PROFESSOR AT UNIVERSITY COLLEGE LONDON

Dylan Wiliam

Keynote Title: The role of school leaders in preparing young people for a world no-one can imagine

Biography

Dylan Wiliam is Emeritus Professor of Educational Assessment at University College London. After a first degree in mathematics and physics, and one year teaching in a private school, he taught in inner-city schools in London for seven years. Over the last 15 years, his academic has focused on the use of assessment to support learning (sometimes called formative assessment). He now works with groups of teachers all over the world on developing formative assessment practices.

“

Over recent decades, it has become clear that, for young people to flourish, higher levels of educational achievement will be needed. However, since most students currently in school are likely to still be working in the final quarter of the century, it is also essential that students leave school with a passion to continue learning—much of what they will need hasn't been discovered or invented yet. In this keynote address, Dylan Wiliam will argue that to resolve this tension, school leaders need to become critical consumers of educational research, being aware of the research, but also judging the appropriateness of research findings for their context.

ACCLAIMED SCIENCE WRITER

Annie Murphy Paul

Keynote Title: The Extended Mind: The Power of Thinking Outside the Brain

Biography

Annie is an acclaimed science writer whose work has appeared in the New York Times, the Boston Globe, Scientific American, Slate, Time magazine, and The Best American Science Writing, among many other publications. She has also received the Spencer Education Reporting Fellowship and the Rosalyn Carter Mental Health Journalism Fellowship. A graduate of Yale University and the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism, she has served as a lecturer at Yale University and as a senior advisor at the Yale University Poorvu Center for Teaching and Learning.

“

“Use your head.” That’s what we tell ourselves when facing a tricky problem or a difficult project. But a growing body of research indicates that we’ve got it exactly backwards. What we need to do is think outside the brain. A host of “extra-neural” resources—the feelings and movements of our bodies, the physical spaces in which we learn and work, and the minds of those around us— can help us focus more intently, comprehend more deeply, and create more imaginatively. In her presentation, science writer Annie Murphy Paul will outline the research behind this exciting new vision of human ability.

WORLD & OLYMPIC MEDALIST Kriss Akabusi MBE

Keynote Title: Inspiring Excellence in a VUCA World

Biography

Kriss rose to fame on the athletics track, where his greatest individual triumph was winning the gold medal in the 1990 European Championships. Having amassed three Olympic medals, as well as World, European and Commonwealth titles, Kriss was bestowed with an even greater honour in 1992: an MBE awarded by her Majesty the Queen in recognition of his services to the country through athletics. Since retiring Kriss has become a successful TV personality, journalist and business leader.

“

An autobiographical review of Kriss's experience in his life of Excellence and Leadership in a VUCA world. Themes covered via anecdotal evidence, storytelling, and poetry include: Leadership, Mentor/Coach, Paradigm shift, and Teamwork. Some interactive exercise in the presentation will highlight how schemata, inner mental models and perceptual frameworks we have may hinder or help in everyday relationships, in pursuit of excellence. And, how TRUST is the fundamental framework for success within teams. Finally the 1991 - 4 x 400m relay race at the World Championships of Athletics will be used to highlight how small changes can make a massive positive difference to achieve success in the arena.

WORKSHOPS

Round 1 - Curiosity, Culture & Curriculum

Building an ethic of excellence: Flourishing Adults in Flourishing Schools

Andy Wolfe - Church of England

Sir Bobby Robson Ballroom

Without flourishing adults, there will be no flourishing pupils. What kind of culture do leaders need to create to enable the flourishing of their teams – not just for the short term success of their outcomes, but for the long term sustainability of their organisations. In his recent book, Flourishing Together, Andy Wolfe unpacks 5 key research domains of flourishing – Purpose, Relationships, Teaching, Resources and Wellbeing. In this seminar Andy will be drawing on this research plus the wisdom of Sonia Thompson/Ron Berger's Ethic of Excellence, as he inspires to a deeper vision of flourishing together as leaders – for we flourish together, not alone.

Simplicitus – The Interconnected Curriculum

Emma Turner - Education & Leadership Specialist

Executive Drum

Based on the number one bestselling curriculum book, "Simplicitus", in this session Emma will introduce her Interconnected Curriculum model, used successfully by thousands of curriculum leads and schools both nationally and internationally. Drawing on a rich research base and decades of school based curriculum and leadership experience, Emma will provide a walk through of how to systematically and strategically design and review your curriculum so that it integrates what we know about cognitive science, child development and subject specific best practice. Whether your school uses single subject teaching or thematic or topic approaches, the interconnected model provides a rigorous lens through which to view your current curriculum provision and its effectiveness.

The Curious Advantage - The Greatest Driver of Value in the Digital Age

Garrick Jones & Paul Ashcroft - Curious Advantage

Lecture Theatre

The Curious Advantage is an exploration of the idea of curiosity and its increasing importance for thriving in the digital age. Curiosity is a skill that organizations and individuals must nurture to embrace a lifelong learning mindset and thrive in the future. Discover the 7Cs model of Curiosity that provides individuals with a practical framework for how to be successfully Curious and use Curiosity as a power skill to unlock their own potential. Explore how curiosity is being implemented in some of the world's greatest organisations.

WORKSHOPS

Round 2 - Stories From Our Trusts

“

In this workshop round delegates can join one of 5 sessions led by our strategic partner MATs who are sharing examples of excellence from within their partnerships. Sessions are led by leaders from each of these MATs with an additional workshop being offered by Nottingham Business School in a session designed for MAT central team colleagues.

Providing teachers the time to teach

David Briggs - Discovery Trust

Ron Greenwood

Teaching and learning is complicated. Teachers are required to alter their practice on a daily basis and use a range of strategies, resources and skills, some of which we may not know about, understand or have the necessary skills to deliver. Teachers are brain developers, it's a difficult job and one in which the teacher never stops learning. In this interactive workshop colleagues will explore the challenges faced with finding the time and space for teachers to learn and develop their practice, as well as discussing and sharing some possible solutions. David will also share the outcomes of an exciting initiative within Discovery Trust and the journey that continues in providing time to learn for all.

Leading teaching and learning: A science or an art?

Claire Stirland, Steve Varnam & Pete Wilkes - Flying High Trust

Executive Drum

At the Flying High Trust we are determined that all children will be taught by an excellent teacher every single day of their primary education. Leading on the development of teaching and learning is a paramount priority. This workshop will take you on our leadership journey, starting from research into the science of how children learn through to the art of crafting and shaping high-quality lessons. You will find out about our strategies for developing expert Teaching and Learning leaders and our trust-wide approach to lesson design, including how adaptive teaching supports the best possible outcomes for all children.

WORKSHOPS

Round 2 - Stories From Our Trusts

Ten practical strategies to help secure good personal development

Steph Dyce & Steve Bowhay - Redhill Trust

Howard Wilkinson

This workshop covers practical approaches used to promoting and securing good pupil personal development in Redhill Trust schools. It covers strategies with early years right through to post-16 students. These practical ideas have been praised by Ofsted in recent inspections, and are well received by teachers, pupils and parents. Themes covered will include student leadership, pupil pledges and encouraging equality and diversity through pupil voice.

A curriculum 'Just like me'

JB Francis & Vonny Shelly - Djanogoly Trust

Club England

How to adapt your curriculum in order that it reflects the Cultural Capital of your school. To challenge participants to adapt their curriculum by considering if it engages and excites their children. Does your curriculum provide opportunities that mirror the children's heritage, background and interests? JB and Vonny will describe their journey at Springfield Academy and the positive impact it has had on the children and staff. Our aim will be to challenge and inspire you to consider what your curriculum is providing for your children and to share links to resources and ideas. Be prepared for some reflective conversations!!

Raising the profile of your school

Julie Rosborogh - Nottingham Business School

Lecture Theatre

Marketing For Schools: Can the commercial sector teach schools?
In the session modern marketing methods and ideas from the commercial sector will be shared to help those tasked with delivering marketing in schools achieve their targets. A case study from the school sector will be shared to display good practice in aligning school vision and mission with marketing activity.

WORKSHOPS

Round 3 - Educational Workshops From External Partners

“

In this workshop round we welcome several external educational experts to provide us with insight and expertise in several areas of leadership including parental engagement, wellbeing and sustainability.

The Wells School Award and wider YST initiatives

Chris Wright & Ruth Mann - Youth Sport Trust & Sarah Johnson from Redhill Academy Trust

Club England

Well School Trust 1 hour workshop for strategic leaders. This session will introduce the Well School concept to Trust leaders and explore how it can support Trust-wide approaches to improving wellbeing.

- Context for Well Schools – what is the Well School movement and why is it needed?
- Concept of a Well School Trust – how can the Well Led, Well Equipped, Well Prepared framework support Trust-wide approaches to wellbeing?
- Aligning Trust Outcomes – How can the Well School approach drive wider Trust outcomes?
- Leadership & Commitment – What needs to be in place to ensure an effective Well Trust approach?
- Contribution of PE and Sport - How does your current PE, school sport and physical activity offer connect with your broader health and wellbeing strategy?
- Case study example from Redhill Academy Trust of approaches to building a Well School Trust and improving wellbeing through PE & school sport.

The Extended Mind - In Action

Emma Turner & David Goodwin - Authors

Ron Greenwood

In this session, David Goodman (secondary) and Emma Turner (primary) two of the co authors of 'The Extended Mind - In Action' explain how teachers can benefit from the concept of the extended mind and explore how to integrate the ideas practically in the classroom. Building on the original book by Annie Murphy Paul, this session will look at how to take ideas and research from philosophy, cognitive science and evolutionary psychology to understand aspects of how humans learn, and look at how we can translate this into effective classroom practice.

WORKSHOPS

Round 3 - Educational Workshops From External Partners

Sense & Sustainability : New paradigms for leadership and learning

Dr David Dixon

Howard Wilkinson

This workshop is a taster for a fascinating workstream which shows how leadership for sustainability can be a driver for school improvement (oh yes and can help 'save the planet!').

Firstly, it helps participants to understand what we actually mean by sustainability and takes the concept way beyond the realms of 'Being Green'. This includes systems thinking and generative approaches which delivers happier students and staff and enhanced relationships with parents and the community. Secondly, it shows at an operational level how an embedded sustainability approach can deliver an enriched curriculum, more effective pedagogy, utility cost savings, ethical and more efficient procurement and a more environmentally friendly school estate. Schools don't have to be part of the Business As Usual model. With sustainability at their hearts, they can be emancipatory for all stakeholders and assist learners to be part of a positive future, rather than one steeped in old fashioned ideas, outdated careers and general gloom and doom. The workshop and following workstream are based on the facilitators latest book 'Leadership for Sustainability: Saving the Planet One School At A Time'.

Using technology to expand staff subject knowledge

Dirk Smith & Phil Page - Inspiring Leaders

Lecture Theatre

CENTURY Tech is exceptionally proud to support the Inspiring Leaders MAT Leadership Conference - We have a long standing relationship with the partnership and this year the introduction of our SCITT initiative will strengthen our strong links going forward.

This workshop will cover:

- Our motivations behind using technology to improve trainee teachers' subject knowledge
- The results of our pilot and subsequent roll out
- The impact of its use, including feedback from stakeholders
- 'Have a go' - trial some of the key elements of the technology yourself
- Next steps, including how the technology could support the subject knowledge improvement of staff in your school

WORKSHOPS

Round 3 - Educational Workshops From External Partners

Excellence in parental engagement

Clemmie Stewart & Emma Kell

Executive Drum

An interactive, research-based and solution-focused session on how schools can most effectively build positive working relationships with parents and carers. What factors are currently affecting parental engagement in your communities? To what extent do parents know they matter and feel part of the school community and how do you know? How does the language colleagues use when speaking with - and about - parents affect engagement, and do parents really know how much they matter? Using models and survey findings to inspire discussion, you will have the opportunity to share successes, challenges and ways forward with colleagues and to identify next steps to ensure excellence in working with the parents and carers of your young people.

Lunchtime Workshops

Julie Rosborough - Nottingham Trent University

Lecture Theatre

Colleagues are welcome to join 25 minute session at lunchtime where Julie Rosborough from Nottingham Business School who will share information about how leaders can access the Level 7 Apprenticeship in Senior Leadership. The apprenticeship offers the opportunity to consolidate your managerial and leadership experience so far to be able to work more effectively across functions. For colleagues in Schools/MATs this would suit leaders in MAT central teams, school business professionals or school leaders looking for an interesting professional development experience. Once the level 7 is completed, learners are welcome to join the Executive MBA programme which is discounted for those working in the public sector. To find out more please join Julie for this optional session.

Preparing For Net-Zero: Making Sustainability a Reality In Schools

Thursday 29th June 2023

Join Us
ONLINE

SCHOOLS HAVE THE POWER TO TAKE ACTION

Are you thinking about how your school can become more sustainable?

Are you looking for ideas as to how your school can reduce direct and indirect emissions, meet legislative targets and find innovative but cost-effective approaches to sustainability?

Are you keen to embed sustainability and environmental education into your curriculum to prepare children for climate change?

If so, then this virtual conference is for you!

Bringing together a number of experts who will draw upon best practice and their experience to give those attending practical ideas for embedding sustainability into both school culture and the curriculum as well as considering how schools can respond to the significant challenges of climate change and emission reduction.

Leading the conference is our keynote speaker Dr David Dixon, author of Leadership for Sustainability: Saving the planet one school at a time. A former primary teacher and head teacher, David is a keen advocate of environmental education and sustainability and is an education consultant specialising in curriculum and leadership helping schools link sustainability with school improvement.

The conference will focus on David's Five C's of Sustainability;

Captaincy (leadership),

Curriculum (what is taught),

Campus (the school estate),

Community (school stakeholders and beyond)

Connections and how these can help position sustainability at the centre of school culture through informed and strategic action planning.

Aimed at all staff who have an interest in sustainability and environmental education, school leaders, MATs and those who have responsibility for the school estate, the conference will comprise a number of keynotes and workshops built around the Five C's.
